The Kitchen Collective is a non-profit co-operative which provides a 1,500 square foot commercial kitchen space for food related businesses and individual members to use on a per-hour basis. By providing it's members with a well-equipped certified commercial kitchen space and associated programming and services, The Kitchen Collective will be a catalyst in the growth of the local food sector by assisting bakers, chefs, and food producers in bringing their products to market, as well as lowering the barriers to launching and growing small foods businesses in Hamilton.

The next step in this application process is to meet with one of our board members to complete your membership application, tour the kitchen, and get answers to any questions you may have.
